Work at Meatball World

We need a waiter

Do you love food and people?

Work here and help our customers. Give them a menu. Then help them choose nice food.

The chef cooks delicious food. Our waiters give customers their food.

Don't drop the plates!

We need a baker

Do you love making bread and cakes?

Bakers work in the kitchen, baking bread and cakes. They wear an apron to keep clean.

Bakers wake up early in the morning. They bake bread for breakfast.

We need a delivery driver

Can you drive a car or a motorbike?

Delivery drivers take food to homes. You need to drive around the city.

Our hungry customers want food quickly. They give you money at the door. You must say thank you!

GLOSSARY

motorbike	(n.)	電單車	a fast vehicle with two wheels
customer	(n.)	顧客	a person who buys things from a place
menu	(n.)	餐牌	a list of food that you can order from a restaurant

VOCABULARY FOCUS

The names of jobs often end in 'er'. The job name tells us what people do. For example, a painter paints. Look at these examples from the job advertisements.

- Baker = a person who bakes bread and cakes
- Driver = a person who drives cars, buses or trains
- Waiter = a person who waits at tables

SUPPORTING SUMMARY

Meatball World is a restaurant. There are three new jobs there. Each job needs you to do different things.

EXTENSION ACTIVITY

What other jobs are there at a restaurant? Draw a mind map to show these other jobs and what the workers do.

Learning in Action: Milk Art

There are lots of jobs! We need to know different things for different jobs. This can be very surprising.

Paints are made of chemicals. Artists need to understand them, so they are scientists too.

Let's paint in milk and learn about science.

Washing-up liquid

Drop food colouring on the milk.
Touch the food colouring with
washing-up liquid.

When we wash our hands, soap breaks up the oil. The washing-up liquid does this to the milk (full fat milk works best!).

Fun Fact

Milk makes our teeth and bones strong!
